

The KOEHLER eClinical GmbH is a clinical research organization for clinical project management, medical statistics, data management and EDC solutions, headquartered in Freiburg. Our service is aimed at national and international pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies. To enlarge our team, we are looking for a

Senior Clinical Research Associate - Senior CRA (m/f/d)

Job Duties

You will be responsible for the project coordination regarding set-up and running of clinical trials, in collaboration with the clinical study team, medical experts, ethical/regulatory bodies, including

- Coordination and supervision of site management activities
- Internal project coordination for complex, global projects
- Support of subcontractor management
- Preparation of core clinical operation documents, e.g. monitoring plan
- Support of project controlling
- Management of trial master files
- Reporting of project status

Job Profile

You have a comprehensive knowledge in setting-up and running clinical trials and are familiar with national and international requirements. You are team-oriented with strong project leadership skills and used to communicate effectively in German and English. Ideally, you will have a background in medicine or natural sciences.

To take up this position, you will need CRO experience, backed up by at least 3 years of work experience as a CRA or study coordinator. This background will enable you to work with eCRFs, CTMS and databases. Practical knowledge of different EDC and CTMS systems is an asset as well as experience in ethics submissions and TMF management.

Thanks to your professional experience, you know what it takes to make success of project work and interdisciplinary team collaboration.

What can you expect:

We offer a full-time job or part-time job (at least 50%) with a flexible work time and comprehensive, attractive fringe benefits. And you will find a positive corporate culture with an open, cooperative working environment and short decision-making processes.
